Firemen's Badges.

An amendment to the fire department ordinance was introduced to first reading at the Town Council meeting Monday night. The amendment provides that each and every member of the fire department must wear the badge adopted by the Town Council or by the fire company of which he is a member, and said badge shall designate the number of the member wearing it.

If any fire company shall adopt a badge for said company, the badge adopted shall resemble as nearly as possible the badge adopted by the Town Council, the only differenc allowable under the ordinance being that said badge may have stamped thereon the name and number of the company which adopts it.

Badges furnished by the town shall be the property of the town, and distributed to the individual members by the chief engineer. The badges adopted by the various companies shall be paid for by and be the property of the various companies and be distributed by the foreman of each company.

On resignation, removal, expulsion or death of any member of the department, badges furnished by the town must be returned to the chief engineer.

The amendment to the fire ordinance was introduced at the request of the members of Essex Hook and Ladder Company, No. 1, and the reasons for it stated in a letter from the company to the council, were as follows:

"The members of Essex Hook and Ladder Company desire to procure badges at their own expense.

"When badges were originally distributed to the members of the fire department, members of Essex Hook and Ladder Company were given the first numbers. Since that time many badges have been lost or retained by members moving away or dropping out of the department. Hence many of the members of Essex Company are without badges, and the company desires to get new badges with the name of the company inscribed upon them, and is anxious to have the new badges in time for the centennial celebration parade."

Street Cleaning Work.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CITIZEN:

SIR—From week to week I have been reading in THE CITIZEN various articles pertaining to "cleaning up" for the centennial.

In the issue of May 11 his honor the mayor exhorts the public to do everything possible to make our town look clean and attractive, and I have observed some of our good citizens are making great efforts in having their homes "trimmed up."

But how about the Street Cleaning Department? (Have I named it right?) The street cleaners have cleaned every street in the vicinity of Williamson avenue north of the railroad bridge, and one day, with their shovels on their shoulders, walked down Williamson avenue very leisurely and "disappeared."

What have the taxpayers on this particular end of the street ever done to be so completely ignored for the past three years? This matter was brought to the attention of the Town Council last fall, and a promise made that it would be attended to, and we are still waiting. If this department has no consideration for the residents of the street, at least let them consider the poor postman, who has to wade through this muck several times a day. Wake up, Street Cleaning Department, and do your duty as all other good citizens are doing. Yours for clean streets. M. E. E. F.

Bitten by a Dog.

William Bickler, seven years old, son of Frank Bickler of 27 Pitt street, was severely bitten on the arms and legs by a dog Monday near his home.

He would probably have been torn to pieces but for the intervention of a passer-by. The boy's wounds, which are serious, were cauterized.

Helps a Judge in Bad Fix.

Justice Eli Cherry of Gillis Mills, Tenn., was plainly worried. A bad sore on his leg had baffled several doctors and long resisted all remedies. "I thought it was a cancer," he wrote. "At last I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and was completely cured." Cures burns, boils, ulcers, cuts, bruises and piles. 25c at all druggists'.—Advt.

Church Notes.

Miss Alice Seibert, sister of Charles L. Seibert, was speaker at a meeting in the Park Avenue German Presbyterian Church Sunday. Miss Seibert, who has been doing missionary work in Africa, gave a talk on the customs of its inhabitants.

Miss Seibert was accompanied by one of the natives, who stated that before a young man marries he must present his future wife with fifteen head of cattle or the price of the same. He also declared that some of the men have as many as forty wives.

The Bloomfield and Glen Ridge Sunday-schools are completing arrangements for the annual June walk on Saturday afternoon, June 1. Governor Woodrow Wilson has accepted the invitation and will review the several divisions of the fifth annual June walk of the Sunday-schools in Newark on Saturday afternoon, June 1. It is announced that the number of Sunday-schools to be represented this year is greater than previously, and the total number of pupils and teachers will be larger than ever before.

Broughtons Beat Belleville.

By good hitting, aided by Yuengling's fine pitching, the Broughton Club defeated the Belleville Athletics Saturday afternoon on the Bay avenue grounds by the one-sided score of 9 to 1. The Broughtons completely outclassed their opponents both in the field and at the bat.

The Athletics got away to a flying start by scoring their first and only run. Yuengling fanned Reuter and H. Watson, the first two men to face him, but Heyl walked. He stole second and scored on Case's hit. Case was out, stealing.

The home team failed to score in the first, but tallied six runs in the second on Heyl's fumble of Vreeland's grounder, a wild throw, Mortimer's triple to left, singles by Boyle and Yost and two-baggers by Ott and R. Walsh.

They added two in the sixth and one in the seventh on Blumenfeld's single, Boyle's two-sacker, Heyl's error and three more hits.

Besides Yuengling's pitching Yaeckel's batting was the feature. The score:

This afternoon on the Bay avenue grounds, which are situated near the end of the Crosstown line, the Broughtons will match their speed against the Fairview Baseball Club, another local semi-professional club. This team is supposed to be very fast, having beaten such teams as the Majestics and Hydraulics of Newark. The Broughtons, however, are confident of taking this game, as they are putting up a very fast game at present. This game should put them in fine shape for Decoration Day, when they will journey to Dunellen to meet the strong team representing that place. The game will be called at 3:30 P. M.

Boy Scout News.

Three men who are experts in various lines of boys' and philanthropic work have been engaged by the leaders of the Boy Scouts of America for different branches of work. These men are Charles B. Horton, director of the Scout Masters' Training Schools and Camps, Frederick N. Cooke, Jr., who will have charge of the business administration of the National Headquarters, and Thomas B. Adams, who as financial secretary will have an important work to do.

Admiral Lord Charles Beresford of England who is the Chief Sea Scout of the British Boy Scouts gives this warning to the boys as to what they should do. "Scouts should be careful as to the literature they read. A large part of modern literature is trashy and useless, and breeds no fine or manly ideas.

Samuel W. Finley of Moberly, Missouri, until the other day had the impression that the Boy Scouts could be used by the police or by the Federal Government in overcoming strikers. He was very much alarmed and wrote to James E. West, Chief Scout Executive, saying "Some of the people around here claim that if there was to be a strike, the police or Headquarters could order the Boy Scouts out against the strikers. Is there any truth to this?" In reply, Mr. West wrote: "Needless to say this office is strongly opposed to any use of this kind being made of Boy Scouts."

Lieutenant General Sir Robert S. S. Baden-Powell, recognized scout leader of the world who encountered socialistic opposition in Portland, Oregon, a month or so ago, is much gratified with the success he had in that meeting. He answered the question of the Socialists thoroughly and went over many of them. Discussing that incident he points out that the aim of the Boy Scouts movement is near that of the Socialistic party. He points out that the Boy Scout movement seeks not as does socialism to cure present evils but to prevent their reappearance in the present generation.

The Boy Scouts of Montevideo, Minnesota, have arranged a system of jury trials for the fellow scouts who are accused of any wrong doing. Joseph E. Stennes, Secretary Pathfinder Patrol, Montevideo, Minnesota, writes about the new system as follows: "A committee of two, consisting of Allen McKay and myself, was appointed to select punishment for boys causing disorder. It was decided that if a Scout breaks the Scout Law he should have a trial by jury, and can be suspended or put on parole for a fit time."
